Just Beach Los Angeles were giving their opinion boarding houses ranging from $3 a week of a man who would advise San Francisco as the first stop.

Anyway, said the speaker, San Francisco was one of the distinguished cities of the United States, and if hardly as colorful as before the fire, why, it still ranked with Boston, Charleston in South Carolina and New Orleans as one of the most individualized towns in America. Undoubtedly the beauty of its situation and its climate had much to do with this. But he thought the fact that it was seaport was the most potent single factor. A city on sait water was always more picturesque than one inland, he went on dogmatically, had always more possibilities of romance. And he instanced again New Orleans, Boston, Charleston and yes New York; while abroad there were Antwerp, Naples, Singapore, Shanghai—you could go on indefinitely.

Everybody, it sometimes seems, abuses the climate of San Francisco; but a good many visitors, not to say residents, have been unable to find out why. The San Francisco climate is a fixed quantity. In the first place the temperature varies
